

China's Food Regime

To Reconsider the South-to-North Grain Diversion in the 1950 -70s

中国フード・レジーム --1950~70年代「南糧北調」の再考

This lecture examines China's per capita grain production and the grain diversion at the provincial level during the 1950s-70s. I argue that South-to-North Grain Diversion (南糧北調) during this period is a widely spread myth and it is time to reconsider the framework in which China's grain distribution is split into two sections, the south versus the north.
